

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their inaccurate beliefs to the American people by instructing stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a unfair tactic and a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation.

I am horrified that Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge to influence the pulic with propaganda. I feel that the FCC has an obligation to protect the public from powerful companies that feel they can stack the deck against an election or any other important issue.

We need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them and to show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard. Thank you.
